11. The action now necessary is therefore to find or create an agency which can undertake publicity work. The best method would be to constitute a small Committee of Enthusiasts in the subject and get them affiliated to the Society in England and provide them (i.e. the Local Committee) with funds, literature and appliances for propagandist work. At least two medical men, one educationist, one administrative officer would be required on such a Committee if it is to understand the topics and conduct its work successfully.

In his letter, dated the 5th December 1919, Major Leonard Darwin, President of the Eugenics Education Society, 11, Lincoln's Inn Fields, London, requests financial support to the Society and suggests some action in regard to the propagation of Eugenic ideals in the State and the local circulation of the Eugenics Review.

B

2. As regards the Review, a copy has been ordered for the General and Revenue Secretariat Library.

3. It is desirable to interest some local agencies in the study and propagation of Eugenic ideals. This object will, for the present, be best achieved by passing on the literature now received to the Civic and Social Progress Association with a suggestion that they may carry on the publicity campaign in the matter and also keep in touch with the Association in London.

4. As regards the financial help asked for by Major Darwin, £21 which is double the fee payable for a life membership, will, if graciously approved, be remitted as His Highness' contribution to the Society.

Col. His Highness Maharaja
Sir Krishnaraja Wadiyar
Bahadur, G.C.S.I.
The Palace
Mysore, India.

Your Highness

I know that there is a growing recognition of the importance of all social problems in India, and I am writing to know whether the question of Eugenics is one which is receiving, or can receive due regard in India. We are all interested in problems of race continuance, and I feel I am right in saying that it is our joint determination that each generation shall be as good as, and if possible better than the preceding one.

This Society considers that one of the best methods of ensuring this racial improvement and keeping up the standard of human life is by a study of and an education in the laws of heredity, and the various modifications of these laws by environment. Will your Highness help forward our work by:-

1. Interesting yourself actively in the propagation of Eugenic ideas and ideals? Will your Highness do this in your own state, as being the person most closely in touch with all schemes for the social betterment of your subjects, and we should be glad to do all in our power to help forward what I know your Highness is so anxious to promote, namely, the improvement of the race.

2. Will your Highness support this Society financially so as to enable the Eugenic ideal to be made known in all parts of the world?

3. Will your Highness take in the Eugenics Review, and disseminate its views?

I remain with much consideration,

Yours faithfully,

Leonard Darwin.
